SPIRITUAL TEACHING AND MEDITATION

Every Tuesday at 2.00pm

Everyone Welcome

Beloved Friend

Brother Mandus
(Published in 1985)

Blessings! May the happiness of yourself and your loved ones increase and multiply today!

I have certainly discovered, during the many years through which our Charity has evolved, that my own happiness is absolutely dependant on being intensely engaged in helping others.

My spirit leaps when I read a letter from someone in trouble. I feel ‘virtue’ going out, a movement of compassion. Prayer for someone in need is like opening a door through which a “glow” of power shines and one can feel the reach of Christ to help.

When writing, like this, I am quickened with a yearning that my words may encourage you to be healed or more creatively effective, or to achieve your highest goal. I feel “close” to you in the Spirit of God in whom we both (and all) have our being.

Or, often unheralded, a new project is born – a new idea which can bear help, inspiration and healing in greater ways.

Then we are stimulated with a tremendous joy and excitement. We feel God at work. Yet the birth of every new project always brings new challenges, stretching steps of faith, greater responsibilities and certainly much more work.

We are deeply aware, of course, of the desperate need of people who are sick, in pain, the old, the lost and lonely ones. We are bruised by the tragedies that stalk across the dignity of mankind in searing wars and sheer inhumanity.

We are saddened by the political experiences which sacrifice human life. We are horrified by the morality of governments which can pour out arms to conflicting nations and promote wars, refugees, starving people and children.

I only know that it is a high honour for you, for me, for anyone who can see the truth of spiritual values, to be involved in taking our humble part towards solving these terrible situations.

May I again join you in standing fast in the Lord? There is a whole world to be won. A mighty undertaking which will not be accomplished in our life-time. But a work which lays foundations for the future heritage of us all is the greatest work of all.

Spiritual Laws no longer offer 'pie in the sky'. They represent the only way whereby man may survive on this planet. They represent health and well-being.

They open the only way to creative prosperity and the fulfilment of a national and world culture. They are the highway to the Brotherhood of Man in the Fatherhood of God.

Spiritual Laws have to do with the healing of warfare, the population explosion, the desperate pollution problems which man indiscriminately creates in the atmosphere, the soil and water of this living world and famine.

Spiritual Laws alone can give man a glimpse of his high destiny and all the wonders that are to be. All the major problems of earth reveal his divergence from these Laws.

We can only solve them by obeying and implementing them.

We are thankful, oh, so thankful for the privilege of a world-wide channel through which we can speak the Good News.

We proclaim the truth through our books and booklets, and through your love, faith, prayer and friendship.

Do please keep closely with us in all these great works for the Father and for mankind. Write to us as often as you wish. Thank you for all your love, and for your help and fellowship in every undertaking.

The River of Life

Dr. Timothy O'Higgins

The ultimate purpose of each of our lives is to live authentically as children of the Divine. Awakening to the real presence, Christ in you, necessitates recognizing our false identification with our ego states and disconnecting from these states. (I have found amazing guidance in this process, through the writings and YouTube presentations of Tina Spalding and Mercedes Kirkel. I highly recommend them.)

Many spiritual masters have succeeded in dissolving the barriers between the ego and the Divine. Jesus the master, succeeded to such a degree that he could proclaim "I and my Father are one". This knowing will ultimately become your knowing. You will realise that he who has seen you has seen the Father. As you will see the expression of the Divine in all, you will no longer project conditionality onto your loving others. Your awareness will expand to see that it is the Christ in all that expresses as the all in all, through all, and as all.

The ego is an illusory state of consciousness. It arises from a misperception of a separation between Divine essence that creates and the divine identity manifest as each of us. As Divine essence can only create divine essence, each of us as a manifestation of this essence, is perfect, loving, perfect expression of Divine Love. The illusion of separation that we experience in the world, is a creation not of the Divine but of the ego. The perception of our alienation from God originates from the divided consciousness of the ego. This alienation we project on to others.

The ego fearing its own worthlessness, categorizes others as acceptable or unacceptable, from its intellectually-based understanding. It evaluates others as good or evil. It imposes its own judgment of guilt or innocence on others behaviour. It chooses whose value system is compatible with the God of its own belief system and who is to be ostracised, justifying shaming, blaming, condemning and annihilating others.....in the name of God.

The world you perceive will continue to present you with a mirror of your consciousness. What you are feeding your consciousness with, is what you will see represented to you in your world. You reinforce or dissolve your state of consciousness, by how you respond to what is presented to you in the moment. How grateful are you for the speed of the driver in front of you while admiring the scenery. How accepting are you of the beggar on the footpath, malodorous and addicted. Perhaps you attempt to control your spouse, your children or your workmates because they don't see things your way. Are you condoning violence in the name of your value system or harbouring violent thoughts towards those whose ideologies you oppose? Until you forgive yourself for your self-righteous enmity, you will have enemies. Be a peacemaker rather than perpetuator of division, in your family, your work place and your country. In gratitude for the gift of the present you make peace with your ego.

The pathway from illusion to realisation begins by accepting life on life's terms. Life flows freely, unconditionally and spontaneously. The conditioned ego inhibits freedom by validating its own perception. Many masters, through dissolving the ego's misperception and restoring the divine awareness, entered into divine bliss. Four major elements have been identified in this process, surrender, faith, flow and trust.

The surrender of one's consciousness is a most powerful human act. As we forgive, we see things differently. We unhook from our self-consciousness so that the higher consciousness may be revealed. Through this act, we are released from all resistance to knowing Christ within. In deciding to "Let go and let God," the intellectual-based understanding, wisdom and conceptual system is transcended. Consciousness drops into a heart-based knowing, a love-centred consciousness. Adhering to the old adage "the more you know, the more you know you don't know," the seeker acknowledges the valuelessness of their mind set as a source of lasting meaning and purpose. They know that Wisdom to man is foolishness to God.

This surrender is motivated by a heart-centred knowing and faith that there is a Divine essence, a Loving Presence, to enfold all who so desire in unconditional love. The change in perspective by releasing our intellectually-based consciousness to a heart-based consciousness is radical. To see clearly your divine sonship you must see the divine sonship of your so-called enemy and to know as you are known is to know the sacred of the all in all and as all. Awareness shifts from ego-based to Christ-based awareness. The mind-set shifts from computing to compassion, from understanding to knowing. Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.

In gratitude for the present, released from judging, we move into the flow of eternal love. In this flow there is no mind. Time collapses. As when an artist is creating, a composer composes, or an experienced meditator is in contemplation, there is only the passion of the Eternal expressing as the now. All parts of the body of Christ are integrated in divine harmony, expressing life.

We enter the river of life. We trust the momentum of the energy of divine love to embrace, to empower, to circulate through us, in divine ecstasy. We sail on and on, from glory to glory, on the river of eternal love. Losing our life, we become Life.

Meditation:

I surrender my consciousness to the higher consciousness in me.

I release my ego defences to the individuality of Christ in me.

Trusting Divine Love, I enter the flow of the river of life.

In faith I allow eternal life to live through me.

Indivisible from Life I see the Oneness in all.

As I embrace all separation I discover the unity in diversity.

I witness the uniqueness of the Divine expressed as all of life.

Love God, Love Life, Love all.

You are the universe expressing itself.

Alan Watts

*Ego says once everything falls into place I'll feel at peace.
Spirit says find your peace and then everything will fall into place.*

POEM TO SILVER SURFERS!

Sent in by Sylvia

The computer swallowed grandpa.
Yes, honestly it's true!
He pressed 'control and enter'
and disappeared from view.

It devoured him completely, the thought just makes me squirm.
He must have caught a virus
Or been eaten by a worm.

I've searched through the recycle bin
And files of every kind;
I've even used the Internet,
but nothing did I find.

In desperation, I asked Jeeves
My searches to refine.
The reply from him was negative,
Not a thing was found 'online'.

So, if inside your 'Inbox',
My Grandpa you should see,
Please 'Copy, Scan' and 'Paste' him
And send him back to me.

This is a tribute to all the Grandmas and Grandpas who have been fearless and learned to use the computer....

They are the greatest!!!!

Holistic Healing with Dr Donnelly

We are very pleased to announce that Dr Sheelagh Donnelly will begin healing sessions at the Centre on Saturdays from 2pm-5pm.

Sheelagh is a Healer member of The Healing Trust which is a non-denominational professional healing organisation. She began her medical practice in 1985. She had an article entitled 'Working as a General Practitioner and a Healing Practitioner' published in the Careers section of the British Medical Journal in 2002. Sheelagh was the Medical Adviser to Vine House (Cancer Help) in Preston which provides free complementary therapies, support and advice to people with cancer and Medical Director of the East Lancashire Hospice in Blackburn from 2005-2008. She is a qualified spiritual healer and aromatherapist.

There is no charge for these healing sessions. However donations are welcome. Please call for an appointment:

‘Kiss of the sun for pardon.
Song of the birds for mirth.
You're closer to God's heart in a garden
Than any place on earth.’

(Dorothy Frances Gurney)

A Spiritual Healer leads you to God's garden – the timeless sanctuary in your heart. Spirit whispers a reminder that All is One, that Love is All and that there is no death, flooding every level of your being with loving light and relaxation. It's as simple and profound as that.

The Heart of the Sanctuary

Anne Nyquist

The Heart of our work here at your Sanctuary is centred in healing prayer, on the phone, through letter, email and direct contact with those who visit us. When asked to pray for anyone, our starting point is Perfection, identification with the Spirit in the person, as the person, the Divine Intelligence, the Holy of Holies, the Light of Divinity.

Mandus often prayed: 'Thank You Father for your Perfection at work upon imperfection'. Jesus was ever aware of divine healing love. His consciousness knew nothing but God's restorative power, wholeness and perfection. In his native Aramaic language, the word 'hlm' means to heal, to be healthy, to make whole, to be sound, to cure, to restore, to integrate and to balance (Dr Rocco A Errico, www.noohra.com).

Making practical changes in our lifestyle are often necessary, a new exercise programme, changing the thought processes, working with forgiveness which opens many doors in healing. The Aramaic word 'shwak' means to forgive, to remit, to set free, to cancel, to release and to let go. You are a spirit dwelling temporarily in a physical body. Now you are incarnate, one day you will be discarnate and as alive as you are now. As Jesus said: 'It is the Spirit that gives Life'. As it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be.

Thank you dear friends, we continue to unite with you in the Light of Divine Healing Love and Grace.

Keep writing and phoning. Where two are three or more are gathered together in prayer, in divine consciousness, there is a shift, an increase in the healing energy. Wonderful. Thank You Father indeed.

Will You Support Us Please?

This is a draft wording of a simple will:

“I GIVE AND BEQUEATH (state what.....) to the Trustees for the time being of The World Healing Centre (WHC) of 476 Lytham Road, Blackpool in the County of Lancashire, FY4 1JF, United Kingdom (being a Charity registered under the Charities Act No 1170377) to be applied for the general purposes of the WHC AND I DECLARE that the receipt of the Treasurer when this legacy is paid, or the then proper officer for the WHC, shall be a complete discharge to my Trustee(s) for the legacy to the WHC.”

This is a wonderful way to maintain our spiritual outreach to humanity. We are grateful to you for your kindness and support.

YOUR WEEK WITH THE FATHER

with

BROTHER MANDUS

Monday: The secret of communion with God lies in the Silence, as you abide in His Love. Even as you need to become still to absorb a radio programme, so do you need quietly to abide in the Spirit of God, listening to Him, experiencing His Presence, believing in His absolute Perfection. Begin this day by being still. Accept completely that all is God, immediately Present. Feel His Perfection in your mind and body. Expect it. Eagerly embrace it. Let your entire being be saturated with Divine health, peace, love, vitality and good.

Tuesday: The Father, through His love, transmutes mind, body, soul and affairs, to bring forth for me the divine expression of His love in every experience. He guides me this day. His power preserves me. His wisdom instructs me. He watches over me.

Wednesday: This day is perfect, Lord, because You have made it. I give thanks that it contains every Blessing I can possibly need. Resting in Your presence I receive all Your good gifts and willingly channel them forth to all people. My only desire is that the world may be fully awakened to Your boundless love and that all people may be united in peace, love and harmony.

Thursday: It is important that we recognise that God's Spirit is perfection in our lives. When we do so, we shall always be poised in His glory, expecting to be healed in mind, soul, body and affairs. Give thanks for the many Blessings in your immediate environment. Whether you are in the home, in the office, or in the factory, the place where you are in is the place where Christ is present. Wherever you are God is.

Friday: Within God's Spirit there is only perfection. The Lord can, therefore, only comfort, heal and minister to all of us in a perfect way. He has the perfect answer to every need. Only believe! In Him you are free from every discordant situation. Know that you receive infinite Blessings. Live in them. Claim them. Claim your divine inheritance in His Spirit and be established this day in His realm of perfection and know inner freedom in Him.

Saturday: Lord, we know we do not have to make a great noise to gain attention: we know that Your caring love enfolds us at all times. So, we become still, just relaxing in your love and feeling the peace and calm which You flow forth to us. In that peace – which is the peace that passes all human understanding – is all the strength we need to face whatever problem may confront us and to overcome it completely. We rejoice that all those whom we hold in prayer are enjoying that same peace and harmony and that perfect healing is assured. Thank You, Lord.

Sunday: As I become still in Thee, Father, I give all my needs today into Thy keeping. One by one I release them, and now give thanks that everything is being dealt with. I am no longer troubled about anything today, so can now devote myself entirely to the joy of working in Thy Strength. Let everything and everyone be touched with the glory of Thy Spirit today, Father, so that all whom I meet may feel the radiance of Thy Love enfolding them. Thank You, Lord, for everything.

Book Review by Dr Sheelagh Donnelly

Mary Magdalene Beckons

Part 1 of The Magdalene Teachings

By Mercedes Kirkel

This is a deeply spiritual book in which most people will find something helpful. I say ‘most’ because some will struggle with the idea that the author, claims to channel the disembodied spirit of Mary Magdalene. However, in the spirit of the divine feminine, I set aside my logical objections and simply accepted that it doesn’t really matter one way or the other. At this point a mental veil was drawn back revealing a beautiful piece of writing.

The author presents twenty five separate messages from Mary, each followed by her personal commentary and the overall theme promotes the re-emergence of the feminine soul qualities as part of our collective evolution to the fourth dimension. Not only are women coming into their own in our society and standing up collectively to the negative traits of masculinity but men are too. As we are challenged by world events to develop a cooperative mind set, we also learn to value the female attributes of intuition, creativity and inclusiveness. “You might think of Mary as a modern day spiritual coach,” she writes, “a trainer who is helping us all to develop our feminine side so that we may attain balance and union with the masculine.”

By picking up this book you will follow her through the woven threads of sacred relationship, the nature of reality, honouring feelings and ways to release your guilt, fear and pain. Her thoughts on the positive aspects of sexuality are a welcome change from the prohibitive shaming of the orthodox religions. If God is love then making love (as opposed to having sex) must therefore bring us closer to our divine self and each other.

A New Name for Our Magazine

Thank you for uniting with us in prayer about a name change for our magazine as we are wondering whether the name Crusader has a place in the modern world. If you have any inspirations, thank you for sharing with us.

HAVE A LAUGH

Children laugh many times more daily than adults. It is estimated that children laugh over three hundred times a day whereas adults laugh less than twenty times. Laughter is an extraordinary medicine. Norman Cousins, “the man who laughed himself to health,” cured himself of disease by only allowing laughter in his life and only allowing those with positivity to enter his hospital room. Laughter lowers our blood pressure. It improves our immune system and increases our stress hormones. It improves cardiac health and releases endorphins, our natural pain relief hormones. It alleviates depression and improves the quality of our relationships.

Here are some humorous reflections. You may be interested in sending some of your favourites to us. Please share with us.

Bishop Desmond Tutu was fond of telling the following story. “When the missionaries came to Africa they brought bibles to us natives,” he said. “They asked us to close our eyes and pray. When we finally opened them they now had the land and we had the bibles.”

Atheism is a non-prophet system.

I've taken a vow of poverty, the son wrote to his mother. Please send money to test me.

My reality check just bounced!

What do they call their Pastors in Germany? German Shepherds.

How do you make God laugh? Tell Him your plans.

Consciousness is that annoying time between naps.

There is no sense in being pessimistic, it would never work anyway.

If Mary had Jesus and Jesus is the Lamb of God, does that mean Mary had a little lamb?

Eckhard Tolle was conducting a big retreat. He pointed to a man in the audience and said “I know what you are getting for Christmas”. Confused, the man responded, “Eckhard, I have never met you, how could you know what I am getting for Christmas”. The master replied, “I felt your presence”.

How many enlightened masters does it take to change a lightbulb? Two, one to change it and one to give a lecture on why only one is needed.

The Yogi walked into the Zen Pizza Parlour and orders one with everything. When he gets the pizza he hands the owner a £20 note, which he deposits in the till. “Don’t I get any change?” asks the Yogi. “Change must come from within,” replied the owner.

Do you know what would have happened if there had been three wise women instead of Three Wise Men? They would have asked for directions, arrived on time, helped with the delivery, cleaned the stable, make a casserole and brought disposable nappies as a gift.

Thoughts on Diet

There has been a lot of discussion over the past few years on diet and health. Much research has been done on the acid-alkaline balance in food consumption. It is reported that a diet high on acid forming foods is detrimental to health and diets high in alkalizing foods enhances health.

Acid forming foods include many of the foods we have been weaned on and love so much. These include meat, eggs and dairy, wheat and processed foods, canned goods and ready-made salty snacks and sugar. Coffee and alcohol are also acid forming. Alkalizing foods include fresh fruits and vegetables, water, herbs, teas, nuts and seeds.

Diets low in acid forming foods contribute to better health, reduced problems with diabetes and the kidneys.

Alleviation of back and muscle pain, have also been reported by the people who changed to this diet. (Probably the most noted follower of this diet is Victoria Beckham.)

Increased quality of sleep, improved physical energy and higher stress-tolerance are attributed to this diet.

To improve your health, perhaps the greatest gift you can give to yourself is to exercise in nature. Appreciate the scenery and take in the fresh air and the beauty of the birdsong, the variety of nature’s colours and the displays on the skyline by day and by night.

Free yourself from absorbing negativity from TV news and violent programming.

Nurture yourself with living food, laughter and loving kindness.

Children's Corner
Johnny and the Little People by Conrad

Johnny sat in a deckchair sunbathing in his beautiful garden. Phew! It was very hot! Everything in the garden lay still and the air was laden with the perfume of many, many flowers.

First, let me tell you that Johnny loved his garden very much. In no time at all Johnny fell asleep, and while he slept he had a wonderful dream all about little people and about his garden. He had bluebells and roses and lots of other flowers. He had three lovely apple trees and plenty of buttercups and daisies growing in the grass. He even had one place where he was growing carrots. In fact, he spent most of his pocket money buying seeds, and endless hours watering and weeding and watching everything grow. What a thrill it was to see the first tiny shoots of green burst up through the soil, and to watch day after day until they turned into flowers. Johnny liked to plan what he would do in his garden. Good gardeners have to, and they have to know what they are doing.

Mind you, it wasn't all hard work. Johnny played hard as well and often had plenty of friends round. But today, here he was all alone and fast asleep at the beginning of a very strange dream. This is what happened.

First, a little man with a green hat jumped from an apple tree on the lawn, and as soon as he had done so, a little man with a red hat jumped out of the tulips. He was followed by a little man with a yellow hat, and by one with a blue hat. Finally, a little man with a hat which shone like sunlight jumped out of a flower-pot. And they all stood in front of Johnny laughing and chattering together.

"Oh!" said Johnny, hardly able to believe what he saw, "I know what you are. You're pixies!" And they all nodded their heads and bowed to Johnny most politely.

Then the pixie with the green hat said, "I look after all the apples on the apple tree, Master."

And the pixie with the yellow hat said, "And I look after all the buttercups and yellow flowers, Master."

"And I look after all the blue flowers, Master," said the pixie with the blue hat.

"And I look after all the red flowers, Master," said the pixie with the red hat very proudly.

“And I,” said the pixie with the hat that shone like silver, “am called Sunbeam, Master. I help all the flowers who don’t get enough sunshine.”

Johnny was so surprised. “Oh, thank you very, very much for looking after my garden,” he said. And all the pixies took their hats off, they bowed and then they put their beautiful hats on again.

“But why do you call me Master,” asked Johnny.

The little people thought that was a funny question. They laughed and chattered amongst themselves for some time. Then the pixie in the green hat, the one who had been first to jump on to the lawn, spoke for all the others.

“Master,” he said, “it is because you have made us. I am made of all your kind thoughts for the apple trees, and even when you are not looking I look after the apples.”

“And, when you are not looking, I look after the yellow flowers. I am made of your good thoughts for them, Master,” said the pixie in the yellow hat.

“Master,” said the pixie called Sunbeam, “I am made of all your prayers for the plants and flowers who need more sunshine and I help them all the time.”

Johnny was speechless. The pixies stood silently in front of him; but now he noticed that they all began to look unhappy.

“Oh, what’s the matter?” Johnny asked. He wanted them to be happy like they were before.

“Master,” said Sunbeam, “we have a friend who is too unhappy to come and meet you. He is unhappy because he has nothing to do. Whenever he tries to do anything it always goes wrong and we have to do all the work again, so he doesn’t do anything now.”

“Oh, that’s terrible,” said Johnny. “What can I do to help?”

“Master,” said Pixie Blue-Hat, “once when the garden didn’t have enough rain you thought unhappy thoughts.”

“And once you had unhappy thoughts when you came back from your holidays and saw so many weeds,” said Pixie Red-Hat.

“And once you had unhappy thoughts when someone stole some apples off the tree,” said Pixie Green-Hat. “Our friend is made of all the unhappy thoughts.”

Johnny understood. He knew just what he had to do.

“I won’t think unhappy thoughts again,” he said.

And with that, out popped a little pixie who had no hat at all. His eyes were red with crying, but now he was smiling a little.

“I will call you Happy,” said Johnny, “and because I always think happy thoughts about my garden, now I will know that you are helping all your friends.”

All the pixies shouted with glee. They danced merrily round and round Johnny, who by now was so very happy that he shed a tear.

Then just as quickly as they had all come the pixies vanished and Johnny woke up and rubbed his eyes.

What a wonderful, wonderful dream! But it was more than just a dream to Johnny. In fact, he has remembered from that day to this just how important his thoughts really are!

You are not a drop in the ocean. You are the entire ocean in a drop.

GOD IS LIKE A CIRCLE . . .

Martin Nathanael

There is an ancient statement, attributed to Empedocles, a Greek philosopher of the 6th century BC:

“God is like a circle whose centre is everywhere, and whose circumference is nowhere”.

To me, this is like thousands of years of theology wrapped up in one sentence. If God’s centre is everywhere, then the inner reality of everything we behold is divine, not excluding the observer. We best understand this not in the mind, but in the heart; for such an insight dawns there, it is known where our being is most deep - that it is still one centre, the one centre, which is in you, him, her, it and me. It is not a bit of God here and a bit there, for God is indivisible – there is only the whole of Divinity. So every aspect of creation becomes a doorway into the infinite.

Where do I go to find God? Answer: You can stay where you are , but open heart, mind and soul, look with fresh eyes lay down all expectations, beliefs, ideas, and the like, and BE totally innocent, like a child, fully engaged with the eternal Now.

“Look at what is before your face; and what is hidden from you will be revealed to you.” (Jesus, Gospel of Thomas, 5)

It means that God is expressing Itself wherever you are, at all times. The key question is: Am I prepared to stop, be still, look, listen, let go of all distractions, and accept the never-ending invitation to be embraced and filled with the full measure of divine nectar?

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.” (Revelation 3: 20)

The Christ Consciousness knocks at the door of your heart, the door of every heart, but there are not multiple Christ Consciousnesses!

Oh, if only we had eyes to see, and ears to hear! However, Divinity is not invasive, it is very respectful. As the sentence from Revelation shows, if we welcome that Consciousness, it enters; if our attention prefers to be elsewhere, that is allowed. We are invited to the Banquet, but we are free to respond – or not.

Everything and everyone comes from Love, is held in Love, and returns to Love. We play the game of world participation at the circumference, as embodied souls, whilst at the same time our essential life is eternally hidden in the One Life, at the centre, “the point with no dimensions”, the divine Magnificence.
